

Mikko Niemelä - Kinkayo

Mikko Niemelä, president and CEO of Kinkayo, a Singapore-based cyber intelligence agency, will be launching the first ever South African index of cyber exposure.

Kinkayo leverages the synergy that comes from bringing researchers, analysts, and operators from the military, intelligence/security arena, and hacker-sphere to deliver a unique ability to support clients through advanced cyber threat intelligence and advanced asset insight.

We bring a hacker's perspective to a client's asset management as well as provide immediate insight into potential weak points in an organisation's external attack surface as the industry learns of new vulnerabilities. While it may take days for many organisations to self-diagnose their own environment upon learning of a new weakness, Kinkayo is able to inform clients immediately.

Mikko will be discussing the launch of the first ever South African index of cyber exposure.

